Are you currently enrolled in veterinary school and focused on Illinois food animal medicine?

Do you need help financing your education?

Illinois Farm Bureau encourages veterinary students to pursue a career in caring for food animals. To help offset the high cost of education, we implemented the Illinois Veterinary Education Training (IVET) Program.

If you have a passion for working with Illinois food animals and plan to work in this field for a minimum of five years after graduation, visit www.ilfb.org/iVET and fill out our online application today!

Illinois Farm Bureau® (IFB®) is a member-strong organization that represents farmers and others involved in the agricultural industry. Our mission is to provide services that help farmers and farm families succeed.

In order to succeed, farmers need the services of a food-animal veterinarian to help them care for their beef cattle, swine, sheep, and poultry.

Three veterinary students attending any accredited college of veterinary medicine in the U.S. are awarded low interest loans up to $40,000 total, that are payable over five years after graduation.

Semi-annual payments begin six months after you graduate and the loan is paid back over a five-year period at a fixed rate of 2% (two percent) APR.

The loan does not accrue interest while you are in vet school. In exchange, students must commit to an Illinois food animal practice and work in this field for five years.

Candidates must meet our eligibility requirements to apply.
